📊 Current Performance (Last 4 Weeks)

- Average Weekly Spend: $38,548.69
- Average Weekly Revenue: $608,067.78
- Average ROAS: 15.79
- Trend: IMPROVING (+9.3% vs 4 weeks ago) ✅

💡 What $10,000 Additional Spend Would Generate:

MOST LIKELY SCENARIO (Based on 4-week average ROAS of 15.79)

- Expected Revenue: $157,941
- Expected Profit: $147,941
- ROI: 1,479%
- Translation: For every $1 spent, expect $15.79 back

CONSERVATIVE SCENARIO (Using minimum ROAS of 15.06)

- Expected Revenue: $150,578
- Expected Profit: $140,578

OPTIMISTIC SCENARIO (Using maximum ROAS of 16.46)

- Expected Revenue: $164,602
- Expected Profit: $154,602

🎯 Strategic Insights:

1. Microsoft Ads are crushing it - ROAS of 20.03 (but only $20.7k in spend over 4 weeks)
2. Brand campaigns are exceptional - ROAS of 39.44 (incredible efficiency)
3. Shopping campaigns are solid and scalable - ROAS of 11.37 (consistent volume driver)
4. Performance is improving - ROAS trending up 9.3% week-over-week

💼 The Bottom Line for Dennis Kirk:

An additional $10,000 investment would likely generate between $150,000 - $165,000 in revenue, with a most likely return of ~$158,000. That's approximately $148,000 in profit on a $10k investment.

Where to allocate the $10k for maximum impact:

- Consider increasing Microsoft Ads budget (highest ROAS at 20.03)
- Scale Brand campaigns (ROAS of 39.44 is exceptional)
- Maintain Shopping campaigns as the volume driver (11.37 ROAS is still excellent)

Would you like me to create a more detailed breakdown by specific campaigns, or would you like to explore different spend scenarios (e.g., $5k, $20k, etc.)?
